8 Robert Zamora and Bryan von Thun hung a candle-lit chandelier from a tree in their yard (pages 114-115). If you like the look but not the dripping wax, order this Pillar Candle Round Chandelier, which starts at $940, from Restoration Hardware—and take it inside. Restoration Hardware, 800.762.1005, www.restorationhardware.com.

9 Austin, Texas, artist Virginia Fleck doesn't waste her plastic shopping bags. She instead turns them into colorful large-scale artworks, one of which hangs in the living room (page 122) of an Austin home designed by Heather McKinney. Finesilver Gallery, 713.524.3733, www.finesilver.com.

10 "If it has good bones, keep it," says Barbara Carlton, who revived two of her Santa Fe clients' iron ottomans by re-covering them (pages 128-129). For a ready-made version, try Pearson's Hair on Hide ottoman. Pearson, 336.882.8135, www.pearsonco.com.

11 A large-scale mounted hand sculpture adds a gothic touch to the Los Angeles living room (pages 104-105) of Robert Zamora and Bryan von Thun. For similar anatomical pieces, check out the selection at Obsolete in Venice, California. Obsolete, 310.399.0024, www.obsoleteinc.com.

12 Santa Fe Modern Home offers a twist on typical log-and-antler decor with its antler candlesticks. Made from recycled aluminum, they are available in blackened bronze for $65 and in polished silver, which Barbara Carlton prefers (page 135), for $75. Santa Fe Modern Home, 505.992.0505, www.santafemodern.com.

13 "You don't have to get rid of Grandma's piece, just update it," says Barbara Carlton, who makes a habit of doing just that (pages 127-128). Her signature slipcovers give heirlooms a whole new look. Shabby Slips West, 505.982.4877, www.shabbyslipshouston.com.

14 Designer Agnes Bourne outfitted the screened porch of an Austin, Texas, residence with an accent table that doubles as an ottoman (page 121). Pier 1 Imports offers a variety of similar styles, including a hand-woven, antiqued-rattan design. Pier 1 Imports, 800.245.4595, www.pier1.com. +
